SALE OF SCHOOL LANDS.

and, and I must be permitted to indulge in the remark that the Executive Department of the Government has been tyrannical. Let me ask this audience of distinguished gentlemen around me here to-day, to point to a vote I ever gave, to a speech I ever made, to a single act of my whole public life, that has not been against tyranny and despotism.

As to myself, the elements of my nature, the pursuit of my life have not made me either in my feelings or in my practice aggressive. My nature, on the contrary, is rather defensive in character. But I will say that having taken my stand upon the broad principles of liberty and the Constitution, there is not power enough on earth to drive me from it. [Prolonged cheering.] Having placed myself upon that broad platform, I have not been awed, dismayed or intimidated by threats or entreatments, but have stood there in conjunction with patriotic spirits, sounding the tocsin of alarm whenever I deemed the claret of liberty in danger. [Cheers.]

I said on a previous occasion, and repeat now, that all that was necessary in the great struggle against tyranny and despotism was that the struggle should be sufficiently noble for the American people to hear and properly understand. They did hear, and looking on and seeing that the contest was what the struggle was about, they determined that they would settle this question on the side of the Constitution of principle. [Cries of "That's so," and applause.]

I prophesied here to-day, as I have on other occasions, that my fate is abiding in the great mass of the people. In the darkest hour of the struggle, when the clouds seemed to be most lowering, when the sun of giving way, looked up through the dark cloud far beyond and saw that all would be safe in the end. [Cheers.]

My countrymen, we all know that in the language of Thomas Jefferson, tyranny and despotism even can be exercised and exerted more effectively in the many than in the one. We have seen a Congress gradually encroach, step by step, upon constitutional rights, and violate day after day and month after month, the fundamental principles of the Government. We have seen a Congress that seemed to forget that there was a Constitution, and that there was a limit to its sphere and scope of legislation. [Renewed cries of "That's so."] We have seen a Congress in a minority anxious to exercise powers which, if allowed to be carried out, would result in despotism or monarchy itself. [Cries of "That's so," and enthusiastic cheers given for the speaker.]

This is true, and because others as well as myself have seen proof to appeal to the patriotism and republican feeling of the country, we have been denouncing the most severe terms—slander upon slander, vituperation upon vituperation of the most villainous character—made its way through the public press. What, gentlemen, has been your and my sin? What has been the cause of your offending? I will tell you.

During to-day the Constitution of our fathers. [Cheers.]

The President here approached the spot where Senator Johnson was standing and said: "I consider the proceedings of this Convention, sir, as more important than those of any Convention that ever assembled in the United States. [Great applause.]

When I look with my mind's eye back at that collection of citizens, coming together voluntarily and sitting in common with ideas, principles, and views commensurate with all the States, and coextensive with the whole people, and contrast it with the collection of gentlemen who are trying to destroy the country, I regard it as more important than any Convention that has sat, at least, since 1787. [Loud cheers.]

"I think I may say also that the declarations that were made are equal to the Declaration of Independence itself, and here to-day I pronounce it a second Declaration of Independence. [Cries of "Glory to you," and enthusiastic cheering.]

Your address and declaration are nothing more or less than a reaffirmation of the Constitution of the United States. [Cries of "good," and cheers.] Yes, I will go further, and say that the declarations you have made, that the principles you are proclaiming in your address are a second proclamation of emancipation for the people of the United States. [Renewed applause.]

For, in proclaiming and re-proclaiming the Declaration of Independence, you are proclaiming the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and offering a common ground upon which all can make common cause and stand together for the restoration of the States and preservation of the Government, without reference to party. The question only is the salvation of the country, for our country rises above all party considerations and influences. [Cries of "good" and cheers.]

How many are in the United States that now require to be free that bear the shackles upon their limbs and are bound as rigidly as though they were in fact in slavery? I repeat, then, that your declaration is the second proclamation of emancipation for the people of the United States, and offers a common ground upon which all patriots can stand.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—Let me in this connection ask you who have been called to the advancement of the public welfare, than I am as much opposed to indulgence of egotism as any one, but here in a conventional manner while the machinery to be worked by my own hands, with my straps and dependents in every town and village, and then with the Civil Rights Bill following as auxiliary. [Laughter.] In connection with all the other appliances of Government, I could have proclaimed myself Dictator. [Cries of "That's true," and "Three cheers for the President."] But, gentlemen, my pride and my ambition have been to occupy that position which retains all power in the hands of the people. [Great cheering.]

It is upon that I have always relied; it is upon that I rely now. [A voice, and the people will not disappoint you.] And I repeat that neither the threats nor jeers of Congress, nor of a calumniating press, can drive me from my purpose. I acknowledge no superior except my God, the author of my existence, and the people of the United States. [Prolonged and enthusiastic cheering.] For the one, I try to obey all his commands as best I can compatible with my poor humanity; for the other, in a political and representative sense, the high behavior of the people have always been respected and obeyed by me. [Loud cheers.]

Mr. Chairman, I have said more than I intended. For kind allusions to myself contained in your address and resolutions that in the crisis and at this period, let me remark public life I hold above all price, and shall ever recur with feelings of profound gratification to the last resolution containing the endorsement of the Convention containing spontaneously from the great mass of the people. [Loud cheers.] I hope that my future action may be such that you and

The young man said he was not on the marry, and she broke a teapot, filled with boiling water, over his head. She was justified of course, and all the girls in Michigan are taking decisive measures with the undecided young men.

—A Presbyterian minister in New York, on a recent Sabbath, suddenly disappeared from his pulpit, while a mysterious smoke, with a strong smell of bromine, enveloped his head. He was "putting himself out," his vehement demonstrations having ignited some lucifer matches lying loose in his pocket.

—The Plymouth (Ind.) Democrat says: "There is living in a German township, in this county, a woman who is the mother of 10 children. 100 years ago she was born, and in the enjoyment of good health."

—A ten-year-old cow, said to be the fourth-horned and one-fourth Ayrshire, owned by W. F. Geer, of Painesville, Ohio, has just calved, and has produced a calf, milked, or a daily average of 87.7 pounds. The greatest quantity given in one day was 12 pounds. The cow had no feed besides good grass. At the time of trial her weight was 1,283 pounds.

—While Mr. Waldron, whose farm is on the railroad west of Rochester, Minnesota, was leading a couple of horses towards his house a few days ago, a train of cars approached, and one of the horses getting loose made for the train, and, trying to jump over the cars, was killed. It is found that the horse was a good one, and a good deal of money was lost.

—Nothing daunted, he leaped again, but instead of clearing the train, he struck one of the cars and was thrown alongside the track, a well up $250 horse.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

KNOW THY DESTINY!

MARSHALL F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrist, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located himself at Hudson, N. Y. He has discovered the secrets which control the destinies of men, and is enabled to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single married couple. While in the state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, produces a life-like representation, guaranteeing to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the subject, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of test monials can attest. She will send, when desired, a verified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be, by enclosing a small lock of hair, and sending place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing 50 cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications, sealed confidential. Address, in confidence, MARSHALL F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 223, Hudson, N. Y.

CHASTELLAR'S White Liquid Enamel.

For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion. The most valuable and perfect preparation in use, for giving the skin a beautiful pearl-like tint, that is only found in youth. It quickly removes Ten, Freckles, Pimples, Blisters, Moth Patches, Saltiness, Eruptions, and all Impurities of the skin, leaving it white and clear as alabaster. Its use cannot be detected by the closest scrutiny, and being a vegetable preparation is perfectly harmless. It is the only article of the kind used by the French, and is considered by the French as indispensable to a perfect toilet. Upwards of 25,000 bottles were sold during the past year, a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy. Price only 25 cents. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of a single penny.

HOME ITEMS.

THE MILL.—Messrs. Pray & Webster, contractors, have a large gang of millwrights at work putting in the mill machinery. We are also informed that they have now commenced the work in earnest, with a view to its early completion.

We also observed that a foundation for a Cooper Shop, had been commenced, and that it would be built the coming week. We hope to soon be able to announce the fact of the mill being in running order, which will obviate the necessity of shipping wheat, and as our merchants are the principal owners, they will realize a greater profit by shipping Flour to eastern market, than wheat in its raw state.

NEW APPOINTMENT.—Mr. F. Theis has been appointed Postmaster of this town, superseding C. A. Warner. Mr. Theis, has always acted with the republican party; but now supports the Administration. We presume the same changes will be made throughout the State.

LIVERY STABLE.—Mathias Goetz will open a Livery Stable here in a very short time, and as soon as the Chaska and Carver Depot is established, will run an express line, that will connect with the trains daily. This is a move in the right direction, and we have no doubt but that he will meet with success in his new undertaking.

CATTLE FAIR.—The 1st Cattle Fair held here last Saturday, was a perfect success. We counted over one hundred head of cattle, and quite a number of horses on the ground, and considering the short notice given, were really surprised at the large number of farmers in attendance. We observed considerable trading, and also a number of sales.

Mr. Goetz, took the 1st premium for the best span of horses, as also did Mr. Schran for the best yoke of three year old steers. Chas. Basler, the premium for the best cow. There was a premium of $10, given for the best yoke of oxen, but do not know who received it. Our Merchants and Saloon keepers reaped a good harvest of currency on that day.

CHANGE OF TIME.—We would call attention to the Time table of the Minn. Valley R. R. which will be found in another column. The time has been changed.

ROBACK'S BLOOD PILLS are undoubtedly the most valuable of all the Cathartic Pills offered to the public—operating by virtue of a special affinity for the mucous membrane of the bowels; being sugar coated they are especially adapted for the use of children and are unquestionably one of our most satisfactory cathartics and should be in constant use in domestic practice.

CAUCUS.—The call of the chairman of the Democratic Town Committee will be found elsewhere. It is desirable that the caucus should be well attended.—Remember the evening, Friday the 21st, at the Court House.

ARRIVALS.—Henry Young returned this week from Chicago with a large stock of Fall and Winter Goods. Give him a call.

C. A. Warner also returned this week, and a very large select stock of Goods, follow him.

Mr. Linenfelser of the firm of Faber & Co. has also returned from the Eastern Market, where he purchased a very large stock.

Our Stores are now fully supplied with the necessities of life, which will obviate the necessity of going abroad to purchase when it can be done fully as cheap at home.

SALES.—We are informed that Mr. Goetz, proprietor of the "Chaska House" has sold out to John Walter.

C. A. Warner & Co., sold the corner lot and house, opposite Mr. Rudolph's new Store to Mr. Henry Oshes, who designs erecting a new building there on the coming season.

Mr. John Bennett, has also purchased 1/2 of John Neuningers lot, containing house and shop, of the corner known as the "Meat Market," stand.

Sales in real estate have been quite lively for sometime past, and the above is only a partial list.

—The plants of the field and the trees of the forest furnish ample means to prevent and cure disease, provided they are used in harmony with the laws of nature. All disease is, at first, local in its character, but soon the blood becomes vitiated or impure, and the whole system becomes diseased. The first steps towards recovery is to cleanse the blood and system generally, and disease will soon pass away. Bryan's Life Pills are adapted for this purpose, and nothing surpasses their efficacy.

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO KNOW?

The most musical and bewitching thing we have read lately is the following, by John E. Sax.

I know a girl with teeth of pearl,
And shoulders white as snow;
She lives all day,
I don't know how.

Wouldn't you like to know?
Her sunny hair is wondrous fair,
And ways in life;
Who would not love her?

Wouldn't you like to know?
Her eyes are like celestial blue;
And smiling lips;
Who would not love her?

Wouldn't you like to know?
Her lips are red and rosy red,
Like roses they glow;
Who would not love her?

Wouldn't you like to know?
Her hair is like a golden ring,
And curls so sweet;
Who would not love her?

Wouldn't you like to know?
Her face is like a flower fair,
And eyes so blue;
Who would not love her?

Wouldn't you like to know?
Her hair is like a golden ring,
And curls so sweet;
Who would not love her?

Wouldn't you like to know?
Her face is like a flower fair,
And eyes so blue;
Who would not love her?

THE SURVIVORS OF THE HORNET.

Mark Twain, of the Sacramento Union, gives the following interesting story of the escape of the crew of the wrecked ship Hornet:

THEIR WATER, PROVISIONS, &c.

I have said that in the few minutes time allowed him Capt. Mitchell was only able to seize upon the few articles of food and other necessities that happened to be about the cabin. Here is the list: 4 hams, 7 pieces of salt pork (each weighing about four pounds), 1 box of oatmeal, 100 pounds of bread (about 1 barrel), 12 two-pound cans of oysters, clams and assorted meats; 6 buckets of raw potatoes (which rotted so fast that they got but little benefit from them); a keg with four pounds of butter in it, 12 gallons of water in a forty-gallon cask, or "scuttled" cask, and one gallon of whisky. There were also a few tin cans, the property of passengers; some pipes, matches, and a hundred pounds of tobacco; had no medicines. That was all these poor fellows had to live on for 43 days—the whole 31 of them.

Each boat had a compass, a quadrant, a copy of Howland's navigator, and a nautical almanac, and the captain's and chief mate's boats had chronometers.

Of course all hands were put on short allowance at once. The day they set sail from the ship each man was allowed a small morsel of salt pork—a little piece of meat, if he preferred it—and a half a sea biscuit three times a day. To understand how very light this ration was, it is only necessary to know that it takes seven of these biscuits to weigh a pound. The first two days they only allowed one gill of water each day; but for the next nearly a fortnight after that the weather was lowering and stormy, and frequent rain squalls occurred. The rain was caught in the canvas, and whenever there was a shower the forty-gallon cask and every other vessel that would hold water was filled—even all the boats that were water-tight were pressed into this service, except such as the matches and tobacco were deposited in to keep dry. So for the first few days the men were very thirsty, and when there was plenty of water to drink. But after that, they suffered the agonies of thirst for four long weeks.

HOPING AGAINST HOPE.

For seven days the boat sailed on, and the men ate their scanty food with a feeling of their morsel of raw pork in the morning, and hungrily counted the tedious hours until noon and night should bring their repast of it. And in the long intervals they looked mutely at each other's faces, or turned their wistful eyes across the wild sea in search of the succoring sail that was never to come.

"Didn't you talk?" I asked one of the men.

"No; we were too dead-hearted—that is, we only looked at each other and over the ocean."

And thought, I suppose. Thought of each of shelter from storms—of food and drink, and rest.

The hope of being picked up clung to them constantly—it was ever present in their minds, and in their thoughts, like hunger. And in the captain's mind was the hope of making the Hawaiian Islands, and he clung to it many a day.

The nights were very dark. They had no lanterns and could not see the compass, and there were no stars to steer by. As said of the boat, "She handled easy, and was steered by the feel of the wind in our faces and the heave of the sea. Dark, and dismal, and lonesome work was that."

Sometimes they got a fleeting glimpse of the sailors' friend, the North Star, and then they lighted a match and bent anxiously to see if their compass was faithful to them, or if it had to be placed close to an iron ringbolt in the stern, and they were afraid during those first dark days that their compass it to vary. It proved true to them, however.

SUNSPOTS PALE.

On the fifth day a notable incident occurred. They caught a dolphin, and while their enthusiasm was still at its highest over this stroke of good fortune, a small boat, and in their thoughts, like hunger. And in the captain's mind was the hope of making the Hawaiian Islands, and he clung to it many a day.

THE BOATS SEPARATE.

After the eight day I have ten days unaccounted for—no notes of them save that the men had their two or three ounces of food and their gill of water three times a day—and then the same weary watching for a saving sail by day and by night, and the same sad "hope deferred" that maketh the heart sick," was their monotonous experience. They talked more, however, and the captain labored without ceasing to keep them cheerful.

The 18th day was a memorable one to the wanderers on the lonely sea. On that day the boats parted company. The captain said that separate from each other they had three chances for the saving of some of the party, while there could be but one chance if they all kept together.

The captain told the mates he was still going to try to make the Hawaiian Islands, and that they could initiate his example if they thought best, but he wished them to follow the dictates of their own judgment in the matter. At 11 o'clock in the forenoon the boats were cast loose from each other, and then, as friends part from friends whom they expect to meet no more in life, all hands hailed with a fervent "God bless you, boys; good-by; and the two cheerful sails drifted away and disappeared from the longing gaze that followed them so sorrowfully.

ANOTHER CAPTURE.

On the afternoon of this eventful day two "bobbies" were caught—a bird about as large as a duck, but all bones and feathers, not as much meat as there is on a pigeon; not nearly so much the men say. They ate meat raw, bones, entrails and everything, no single morsel was wasted; they were carefully apporportioned among the fifteen men. No fire could be built for cooking purposes, the wind was so strong and the sea so high that it was all a man could do to light his pipe.

AN INCIDENT.

On the morning of the 19th day, while some of the crew were dosing on the thwart and others were buried in reflection, one of the men suddenly sprang to his feet and cried, "A sail, a sail!" Of course the glibish boat bounded then and eager eyes were turned to seek the welcome vision.

On the 21st day Captain Mitchell took an observation, and found that he was in latitude 10 deg north and longitude 17 west—about 1,000 miles from the Hawaiian Islands. The hope he had cherished so long that he would be able to make the Hawaiian Islands deserted him at last; he could only go before the wind, and he was obliged to attempt the best thing the south-east trades could do for him—blow him to the "American group," or to the Sandwich Islands—therefore reluctantly and with many misgivings turned his prow in the direction of those distant archipelagos.

A Missouri paper announces the discovery of a new oil in Pike county. It is obtained from bituminous shales, and from tests made it appeared to be richer than the Pennsylvanian, and non-explosive; one hundred pounds of shale yielded three gallons of oil.

A beautiful variety of ornamental glass has been devised by Mr. Pelouze, 250 parts of white sand, 100 of carbonate of soda, 50 of limestone, and 40 of bicarbonate of soda, and a great mass of glass is thus formed of a rich green color filled with golden splinters.

Dr. E. B. Smith, of the contents of a rat, is said to be a good deodorizer. The top soil, exposed to the sun or dry loam, sprinkled or shovelled on the contents of a privy every day or two will prevent the emanation of offensive odors, and will increase the value of the contents as a fertilizer.

This Museum of Natural History at Paris is, or rather has been, infested with rats, rats, thanks to M. Cloez, it is now free from the nuisance. The happy thought of pouring bicarbonate of soda into the holes occurred to this gentleman, and the vapor we need hardly say, was fatal to all the rats who stepped to inhale it.

The Canadian militia are greatly dissatisfied at their non-payment by the provincial government. Ten thousand troops are reported to be all ready to embark from England for Canada.

Napoleon has written a letter to King Victor Emmanuel, rejoicing that the era of peace has returned. How far the Prussian needle gun was instrumental in framing this happy condition of the Emperor's mind is left to conjecture.

Advices by the Atlantic cable up to the evening of the 31st state that the treaties of peace have all been ratified. A dispatch from London states that a rise in rebel bonds was occasioned by the news of the Philadelphia Convention. Affairs on the continent are assuming a peaceful aspect, and hostile troops are evacuating the countries they have invaded. The Empress Carlotta has visited Vienna, and was officially received at Berlin by Victor Emmanuel. The negotiations reported between the King and the Pope are denied. The war in Carthage continues. Later dispatches report the progress of the American embassy through Russia. Another banquet had been given them at St. Petersburg. Francis Joseph, of Austria, has, for reasons of economy, dismissed a portion of his retinue.

The South.

CURRENT ITEMS.

Dominic Paragraphs.

—Mr. Daniel Hart, of Albany, 99 years of age, recently took 650 pills of corn in three hours.

—The population of Toledo, Ohio, according to a census just completed is 24,401—an increase of 4,892 in one year.

—A colic 2,000 miles old is exhibited in Charleston, South Carolina. It is almost as great a unimpaired curiosity as a silver chair.

—A New York paper says Samuel H. Butler, of that city, has the choicest library in the country. Only the rarest books are admitted.

—The favorite material for adulterating ground coffee in New York, has been stale black bread, the surplus stock of emigrants arriving from Europe.

—The fire department of Boston proposes to send to the Paris Exposition a complete miniature illustration of the fire alarm apparatus used in that city.

—The losses by fire in the United States for the first six months of 1895, and where more than $25,000 worth of property was consumed, foot up $22,976,000.

—The amount deposited in Savings Banks in New England is $115,977,000, or 527,702 deposits. In New York $12,200,000, or 460,000 deposits. Total, $231,499,000.

—The New Academy of Music, now being erected in New York city, will have, among other improvements, a magnificent stage, a box, (called Mezzanine), where you can see everything and not be seen.

—The iron moulders of Worcester, Mass., struck for fifteen days, and have been a few days since. One establishment, which complied with the demand immediately, and by night all others had followed suit.

—Fair Haven is again the scene of a wedding which was to come off but didn't, although the clergyman had arrived and the guests were on hand. The young lady at the last minute said she didn't think she would.

—A dancing master has introduced a new style of dancing which is very peculiar and destined to be extensively practiced. It is styled "Kiss Coddling," in which the gentleman always kisses the lady as they "swing the corners."

—The exports of cotton from New York since September 1, 1895, have been 484,375 bales, against receipts of 283,223 bales. The estimated stock in port is 110,000 bales. The balance (270,000 bales) was for home consumption.

—Mrs. Alexander, of Caldwell county, Kentucky, killed her husband, aged sixty, and was afterwards found dead in the yard. She committed suicide because her husband refused to be married again, after a short separation.

—Initiative of the progress of art and the appreciation of the public is the introduction of classical music in Central Park, New York. Not less so is the favorable reception of the first promenade concert of the Metropolitan at the Rink in Chicago.

—Two friends meeting, one remarked: "I have just met a man who told me he looked exactly like you." "Tell me who it was, that I may know him better," replied his friend. "Don't trouble yourself," he said, "I did that myself at once."

—A female operative at the Norwich cord factory, on Wednesday, crawled under the shafting to adjust a belt, when her hair caught in the machinery and she was rapidly whirled around the shaft, but was miraculously rescued with slight bruises.

—In St. Louis a physician was called to visit a man critically ill. Having written a prescription he tore it up, because the wife could not pay. The man died, and a benevolent citizen has concluded to prosecute him to the extent of the law.

—The large quantity of French tobacco stored in Richmond was frequently mentioned during the war, and was made an excuse for a visit to the rebel capital by the French Minister. It has been almost entirely gone, and the return of peace, and indeed only three hundred of the original 2,300 hogsheads remained, some of which were hogsheads having been burned in the conflagration of Richmond. These, however, were sold at auction, and the proceeds were used to compensate the rebel property and was taking steps to that end when the attorneys of the Rothschilds sued the whole lot for the war. The tobacco was worth about $200,000, and is now in possession of the city sergeant, pending further legal proceedings.

Foreign Gossip.

—The wires of the Russo-American Telegraph have been stretched a distance of seven hundred and fifteen miles above New Westminster, in British Columbia.

—A late Paris paper announces that within the preceding fifteen days sixty-seven new styles of hats for ladies were patented in that city. We are not sure if the French people are so fastidious, but we must wait their arrival in this country.

—When it was proposed to the Pope to arm his troops with the needle-gun, he replied that the Opinion Nationale, which it would not be proper for him to be the first of Catholic powers to adopt an arm that had been used by the Lutherans against the devout Austrians, and which was evidently from the devil.

—The French company which undertook the completion of the great Virginia canal from Richmond to the Ohio river, has failed, or abandoned the enterprise. The scheme, which was originally projected, or backed, by Louis Napoleon, as a part of his American "policy," which he was to convert the Southern Confederacy into a French colony, went up the spout when the canal project followed it.

—Late advices from Valparaiso state that news had been received at that point of abandonment by Spain of the war against the South American Republics. It was also stated that the allied Powers were inclined to let Spain off so easily, but had determined to make retaliatory war against her commerce.

—Mr. Book with the United States Commission for the Paris Exposition, writes from that city, strongly urging that prominent among the American features of the Paris Exposition in 1897, should be a model school house, with all the modern appliances, school books and apparatus, and with teachers and scholars, sent over for the purpose.

—Mr. R. Muesel states, in a letter to an English journal, that one of his improvements, in conjunction with Dörmeyer's pneumatic process for producing steel, or highly refined iron, returns an annual profit of one million dollars. He also states that "one of his patent processes alone is at present of more commercial value than all the patent processes (with two exceptions) collectively, for the improvement of iron and steel, taken out by others during the present century."

Shocking Accident.

Four Children Drowned as Frequent Late, Late Erie.

From the Toledo Blade, August 31.

Yesterday the Baptist Sunday School went to Freque Lake on the Steamer Belle, on an excursion, and picnic. The trip down had been extremely pleasant, a beautiful dinner had been partaken of, and the children were enjoying themselves on the island when the terrible catastrophe, which has thrown a shadow over the entire community, put an end to their mirth.

The circumstances, as given us by one of the party, are as follows: After the dinner was over, five of the excursionists—Benjamin Holman, E. G. Isherwood, Fanny Enderswood, Georgiana Reed and Florence Rhodes—found a small ducking boat, in which they embarked for the purpose of crossing the river, which at that point is two miles wide. They rowed across without accident, but when about half way back on their return, the wind freshened, and the boat began to fill. The young men, Holman and Isherwood, jumped out, evidently by their right they thought to themselves that they were safe, and they swam, and it went down. The boys, with a heron worthy of men, made a desperate struggle to keep the boat afloat, but before they could be reached, all was lost. The boat, which was taken in a sail boat when completely exhausted, and the four children, who had been added to the ghastly list.

The bodies were all recovered. Young Ben Holman was clinging to a log on the bottom of the river when he was rescued. The other three girls, who were in the boat, were found floating in the water. The bodies of the four children were found in the immediate vicinity.

The news was brought to the city by a steamer which had been dispatched for the purpose. For an hour the wildest excitement prevailed in the city. The crew of the boat, which was taken in a sail boat, were all recovered, and the bodies of the four children were found in the immediate vicinity.

The entire community was last night afflicted at so sad an accident and so terrible a loss of life, and so much joy.

The deceased were aged respectively as follows: Everett G. Isherwood, fifteen years; Georgiana Reed, fourteen; Fanny Enderswood, thirteen; Florence Rhodes, eleven.

A Fearful Position.

On the trip down the St. Lawrence on Wednesday last, the steamer Lord Elgin was wrecked on the rocks of the river, and the bodies of the four children were found in the immediate vicinity.

The bodies were all recovered. Young Ben Holman was clinging to a log on the bottom of the river when he was rescued. The other three girls, who were in the boat, were found floating in the water. The bodies of the four children were found in the immediate vicinity.

Ben Butler on the Situation.

A political meeting held at Gloucester, Massachusetts, on the 26th, General Butler made a characteristic speech, which the New York Herald reports as follows:

The issues now before the country were the same substantially as those of 1860, and in this connection he wished to state the causes which led to the rebellion and the part taken by the Southern States in their attempt to overthrow the Government. He contended that by their rebellion they had forfeited their property, their rights, and their lives. Passing on, he spoke of the fact of the rights of the Southern States to secede, and that they were not to be recognized by the Government. He contended that if any portion of the Southern States had sent a loyal man to Congress, it was only to get him admitted, and when they had secured a representation, they would send a loyal man. Referring to the Philadelphia Convention, he said it was composed of men who proposed to settle a war which they did not fight, but which they opposed in all possible ways; and it is the intention of the loyal people to bring by what right they have to those who solve that privilege. It is the men who did the fighting, he said, who are to do the settling.

General Butler characterized that body as the most remarkable that ever assembled, and said that the delegation from neither side of the country represented constitutional rights.

He then referred to the New Orleans riot, and read a portion of the correspondence relating to it, and said that the whole of President Johnson's dispatch to General Sheridan was to gloss over the whole affair. If this state of things cannot be altered, the General continued, we will march on more, and we will be to those who oppose us.

In considering the Constitutional Amendment recently adopted by Congress, he said he was not in favor of the one relative to negro suffrage, but accepted it as the best he could get. He was in favor of free and impartial suffrage, and he would try by every means in his power, and whatever position he might be placed in, to secure it. He said that unless the people of the North were firm in upholding their Congress they will have their work of the last four years to do over again. The General was frequently applauded during his speech.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF SALE.

Under and pursuant to the judgment and decree of the District Court in and for the County of Carver, and State of Minnesota, duly made and rendered and docketed therein, on the 10th day of August 1886, in a certain action, wherein Franklin Steele was plaintiff, and the Chaska Company, J. H. Simmons and Charles A. Warner were defendants, in and by which judgment it was, among other things, ordered and decreed, that the mortgaged premises in said decree and hereinafter described be sold at public auction by me, to satisfy the amount found due said plaintiff by said judgment, being the sum of $2,565.88, damages and $28.10 cost of suit, and so much thereof, as the price of said sale will pay of the same, and by virtue of said judgment and decree, I have caused to be published in the Chaska Herald, a weekly newspaper published at Chaska, in said County of Carver, and State of Minnesota, on the 15th day of October 1886, at twelve o'clock noon of said day, the following description of premises, situated and being in the County of Carver and State of Minnesota and being lot number five (5) in Block, Five (5) of the Town of Chaska, in the town of Chaska, in said County of Carver, to pay off and satisfy said judgment and decree.

Deed Aug. 27th 1886.

ERNEST ELSWORTH,
Sheriff of Carver County Minnesota.

SHERIFF SALE.

By virtue of an execution issued out of and under the seal of the District Court in and for the County of Olmsted and State of Minnesota, to me directed on a judgment against Ferdinand Lutz and in favor of "Thayer Cuming" to the sum of $160.31 with said judgment docketed in the Office of the Clerk of the District Court in and for the County of Carver in the State of Minnesota on the 10th day of January A. D. 1883 I have levied up (in the following described real estate) as the property of said Ferdinand Lutz to-wit, lots 5 & 6 in Block 20 in town site of Wagonville in said County of Carver.

Notice hereby given is hereby given that I shall expose the said described real estate to sale at public auction and vendue to the highest bidder to cash on Saturday, the 6th day of October A. D. 1886 at one o'clock in the afternoon on said day at the Court House in the town of Chaska in Chaska in said County of Carver and State of Minnesota to satisfy said execution and the costs thereof.

Soldier's and Sailor's Conven- tion.

The following spicy letter from Mr. Clark, of Maunkato, to the Record, of that place, is in reply to an article that appeared in the Muskato "Union," and for point; and merit, can't be beat. Hea-him:

Editor of the Muskato Record:

I notice in the last Union an article upon the above Convention that I think misrepresents facts to such an extent that I feel called upon to reply.

The Editor of the Union says first, call all soldiers who do not believe in the the origin of the woefully headed party of men—born, spawned, starved sex, ex-army officers of the Democrats is so-called. If he will also add, of the Union, possibly we will admit the title will, certainly.

boned, knowledge that they are fighting brave fighting, and long enduring the hardships of a bloody war, while he goes enjoying his ease with all the comforts of his home—much of a loyalist to take part in the battle or assist in preserving the Union, which he professes to uphold. In fact, he is one of those inverosimiles plenty since the war, who at heroic in the time of Peace, were inverisimile in the time of war!

I also admit that they are starving and scarcely able to get by, ending the best years of their life in the army—on the barren fields of Vicksburg, Richmond, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Antietam,

He also alleges that they "snuff from the warm meals" promised by the "Breed and Butter party." Is he afraid that some hungry soldier, whose only fare while fighting for his country was hard tack and pork, should dare to pick up some of the crumbs dropped, and eat them?

He also finds fault with soldiers who have fought for four long, bloody years for the Union—the whole Union of 36 States—for not forgetting the principle that actuated them in giving their all to prevent a dissolution, and standing, as they do, on the broad principles of the constitution, against the secession movement.

He also says that "Geo. A. Clark Inc. a soldier, Lieutenant, Captain, Major, &c. trotted around this call for a meeting of loyal soldiers." "That he has a winning way." &c. Thank you, Mr Griswold for the compliment, I did circulate that document, and succeeded, by my "winning way," is not only getting every member of Co. H, 4th Minnesota, whom I met to sign the same, but a large number of others who never belonged to my company. Yes, Mr. G. you will find enrolled there the Veterans who fought so nobly in the old 1st, at Antietam and the Wilderness; of the 2nd who stood at Chancellorsville, Mission Ridge, and Atlanta; of the 3d who were at the battle of at Little Rock, and defended your home from the Indians, when, I have no doubt, you were quailing with terror for your scalp; of the 4 h. who, at luka, Vicksburg, and Alabama, stood like a wall.

adamant against the legions of the enemy; of the 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th who have won honor at the canons mouth of the soldiers of Wisconsin and Illinois and whom there are none braver and who have adopted this as their home— Yes, Sir—ee I did circulate that paper but I am sorry to say that I did not have time to send it to every soldier in the

You know that you misrepresent the conversation of the soldier referred to in your article. He never said, "Don't Cleveland Convention," but he did make the remark that you talked so fast he could not say a word. Yes, Griswold, you are good at talking; and he, I know, is at fighting. Every one to his trade. He signed the petition, even after you

I also admit that the majority of soldiers don't understand the situation as you do, but they are in the right, never.

In conclusion, allow me to say that I am one of the "seedy, ringboned, spartan army officers," who fought four years for the Union, and am emphatically in favor of the union.

the principles enunciated by the Philadelphia Convention, and of the admission to Congress of legal representatives from all the States of the Union—up a Union man—first, last and all the time—henceforth and forever. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.
